BROADSIDE HURLED AT DRY OPPOSITION

COUNCIL TALKS WITH OFFICIAL OF WATER CO.

Meeting Lasts Late Although Business Is of Little Importance.

Although the regular meeting of Circleville city council lasted later than usual, the business transacted by the city dads was of only small importance.

The major question of the evening, and the one which required a great amount of time, was the discussion with W. A. Dark, of Massillon, O., a representative of the Ohio Water Service Co., concerning extension of water mains to serve citizens in Half-ave, and Edison-ave from Court-st to Pickaway-st, changing the fire hydrants and concerning the minimum charge for double houses.

Although nothing definite was decided at the meeting Mr. Dark promised to return to the council meeting at a later date to take up the several matters brought up by council again.

HYDRANTS IMPORTANT

The question of the water hydrants is an important one and one that cannot be put off. Since the city has acquired its new pump for the department, it has been learned that the holes for fastening the hose to the hydrants are not large enough to permit use of the new pump. There are many locations in the city, in the business district and near factories, where if a big fire would start, it would be impossible to use the new pump, thus greatly impairing the fire department's chances for preventing loss in property.

An ordinance to name the Berger hospital and to authorize the placing of the metal plate on the hospital bearing the name of the Berger Hospital, in a conspicuous place was introduced and passed under suspension of rules.

The question of repairing N. Pickaway-st and establishing a grade to permit the water company to place its water main along the street, was, on motion of E. S. Neuding, referred to the committee on department of public service and the director of public service.

The ordinance providing for the rules and regulations of the Berger hospital was given its second reading in this session and was again referred to a committee of the whole with T. M. Barnes as chairman.

A resolution awarding the Berger hospital bonds and the Pickaway-st sanitary sewer bonds to the Banc Ohio Securities company, was introduced and adopted.

An ordinance amending sections 1, 2 and 4 of ordinance 166 in connection with the issuing of bonds in the sum of $75,000 for the municipal hospital, was introduced and read for the first time and passed under suspension of rules.

The claim of Marvin Riffe for $50 against the city for injuries she received when she fell in front of the Odd Fellows building, E. Main-st, was rejected.

W. F. Baker, president protem, presided at the meeting in the absence of President John C. Goeller.

CLAIMS REFEREE HEARS TESTIMONY

C. M. Trunick, Columbus, Here In Interest of McClarren Beneficiaries.

Claire M. Trunick, claims referee for the Industrial Commission of Ohio, took testimony in the case of the death of Harold McClarren, son of Mrs. Jack Thompson of Logan-st this city, who was killed at the Columbus airport last November when he fell from a construction building. Twenty local witnesses were called in the case.

R. G. Garrett, Jackson-pk, grand-father of the deceased, has entered a claim, stating that he reared and cared for the boy from childhood. Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Garrett will be the beneficiaries of the amount paid by the Industrial Commission for McClarren's death.

Paul Adkins represents Mr. Garrett and Richard Simpkins is the attorney for Mrs. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wilson, the latter, stenographer at the Leach Motor Car Co., called on Mr. Leach at White Cross hospital in Columbus Wednesday. His condition remains the same.

Burns which she suffered at her home a week ago proved fatal to Beatrice Jones, aged 18, of Kingston. Death occurred at Chillicothe city hospital Tuesday at 4 p. m.

She was born in Athens-co Dec. 10, 1911 and was the daughter of Edward and Florence Jones. Surviving are the parents; three brothers, Ray, Robert and Charles at home; two sisters, Roberta at home, Ray Robert and Charles home, and Mrs. H. Darnell of Minford, O.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at Athens with burial also there.

FORMER LOCAL WOMAN TAKEN

Mrs. Estella Dunnick, Aged 34, Dies In Columbus—Burial To Be Here.

Mrs. Estella E. Dunnick, aged 34, wife of W. R. Dunnick, 564 Oakwood-ave, Columbus, a resident of Circleville until 14 years ago, died at her home late Wednesday.

She is survived by her husband and the following brothers and sisters: Clarence, William and Earl McAbee, of this city; Leslie McAbee Dunnick; Mrs. Maude Nau, of Ashville, and Mrs. I. S. Young, of Petersburg, W. Va. One son, Leslie McAbee Dunnick, also survives.

Mrs. Dunnick was a member of the Columbus Grace Lutheran church. Funeral services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. in Columbus Grace Lutheran church with burial in Forest cemetery.

ASHVILLE MAYOR HANDS OUT FINES

Mayor S. D. Fridley, of Ashville handed two prisoners whose names were not disclosed stiff fines of $50 and costs for intoxication and disorderly conduct in Mayor's court Wednesday.

The victims of the stiff fines could not meet with the so-called tax and were returned to the bastille. Mayor Fridley said, "Don't come to Ashville drunk, because you will be sure to get $50 and costs if not more."

JUDGE RULES IN FAVOR OF BLAINE DITCH

Whitcraft's Decision In Darby-Twp Matter Ends Long Legal Battle.

Judge Harley M. Whitcraft, of Logan, Wednesday upheld the Blaine ditch petition for the draining of Clark creek in Darby-twp after the case had been in the courts since March 23, 1924.

On that date, Ernest E. Blaine and others filed a petition with the Pickaway-co commissioners to drain the Clark creek by constructing a short cut to Deer Creek. The land at the headwaters of Clark creek are said to be almost level so that water does not flow freely. The Clark ditch is 55 years old and according to the petitioners had never performed properly.

After studying the case the commissioners put their official stamp of approval on the project and fixed estimates and assessments and gave orders to commence work.

FILES APPEAL

Then Mrs. Kathryn Lucas filed an appeal in common pleas court against the case and Judge Clarence Curtin overruled the commissioners decision. The case was then taken to the court of appeals which court reversed Judge Whitcraft and appointed Judge Whitcraft to hear the case on its merits. Whitcraft did so and ruled for two petitioners.

In announcing his finding and judgment for the appellees Whitcraft ruled that the improvement is necessary; that it will be conducive to the public welfare; that the cost is not greater than the benefits conferred; that the route and mode of construction is the best to accomplish the purpose and that the assessments levied are in good order.

Charles H. May and Irvin F. Snyder represented the petitioners while Abernethy and Simpkins and C. A. Weldon represented Mrs. Lucas.

JAIL BREAK FRUSTRATED

Guard Hears Saw Biting In Bars—Five Columbus Prisoners In Solitary.

COLUMBUS, O., MAR. 20—A prison break, which is said to have involved at least 40 prisoners, was frustrated at the city workhouse on the outskirts of this city today.

Five prisoners, the alleged ring leaders, were thrown into solitary confinement immediately after the discovery was made.

The plot was frustrated when a guard heard the noise of a saw as it was biting through the iron bars of the window of the dormitory where the 40 prisoners are kept during the night.

He called another guard and the lights were thrown on in the hall. A prisoner, with a saw blade in his hand jumped back. He was placed in solitary confinement. Four other men were implicated, as being the "ring-leaders."

Two bars of the window had already been sawed through at the top and about two thirds of the way at the bottom. The window glass had been removed by scraping the putty from the frame.

All of the prisoners were serving minor workhouse terms.

MOTHER OF MRS. R. C. PARKS DIES

Second-st with burial in Chillicothe Greenlawn cemetery.

Mrs. Brock is survived by her husband and five children. She was a member of the Calvary Lutheran church. The Order of Eastern Star, the Ladies' Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars and B. of L. E. auxiliary.

Digest's Vote Favors Repeal Of Amendment

NEW YORK, MARCH 20—The Literary Digest which is conducting a nation-wide poll on prohibition sentiment today made the following announcement:

"The vote for repeal of the prohibition amendment continues to lead over that for modification and also for enforcement in the second week's returns of the Literary Digest's 20,000,000 ballot nation-wide poll.

"Of the total of 703,953 votes received and tabulated in the current tally, 287,885, or slightly over 40 percent, favor revoking the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law.

"A total of 224,141 favor a modification of existing conditions by legalizing the sale of light wines and beers, the balance, 191,909 votes, are for 'strict enforcement.'"

"These second returns are from twenty states and the District of Columbia, last week's returns showed a total tabulation of 291,588 votes from ten states.

"Kansas, the home of the late Carrie Nation, is the only state at this time which shows the vote for enforcement leading over that for modification and repeal.

GEORGIA DIVIDED

"Georgia, the first representative from the 'solid South' to forward returns in this poll, is rather equally divided on the three questions upon which the "straw" balloting is being undertaken. The tiny domain of the national capital, District of Columbia, which, however, has no official voice in elections, shows a vote for repeal outnumbering that for enforcement by more than two to one, with a substantial intermediary following for modification.

"The recognized 'wet' states of New York, New Jersey, and Illinois register vigorous opposition to the dry enactment, while the vote so far from the 'farm belt' of the middle west shows a strong tendency for enforcement.

"The returns are yet very meager compared with the total vote that is anticipated before the final tabulations are obtainable.

"Besides the 20,000,000 ballot poll that is now fully under way, the Literary Digest announces that they will follow this immediately by a supplementary poll of nearly 1,000,000 ballots which will be sent to all the physicians, lawyers, clergymen, and school teachers in America, each class to be reported separately."

Ohio votes thusly: for enforcement, 22,387; for modification, 23,424; for repeal, 23,231; casting a total of 69,042 votes.

Francisco Prays That He Might Be Able To Recall Crime Details

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 20—Thoughts of John Francisco, 49, who, police say, confessed to what they termed the brutal murder of his daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Edgington, 19, a bride of 18 months, turned to prayer today—prayers that he might remember the harrowing details of the crime.

Incarcerated in county jail on a first-degree murder charge, to which he entered a formal plea of not guilty at his arraignment yesterday, Francisco said that he intended to pray that his memory be cleared.

He made a plea to his son, Harold, to locate the minister who had buried his daughter whom he confessed he murdered. "I want him to pray with me," said the slayer.

Meanwhile, police are endeavoring to discover the exact details of the crime, which the father says he can't remember. Mrs. Edgington was found slain in her one-room apartment here with her throat slashed with the piece of a broken milk bottle. Her head had been beaten with a blunt object.

Besides confessing to the murder, Francisco gave no de tails. He said he killed the girl-bride because he thought her death might affect a reconciliation between him and his estranged wife, Mrs. Alice Francisco, of Dayton.

He changed his story later, however, and said the killing of his daughter was the first step in his plans to slay his entire family and then commit suicide.

It is not yet known whether Prosecutor John J. Chester, who sent Dr. James Howard Snook to the electric chair, will ask the death penalty for the confessed slayer.

Francisco is penniless and the court will be forced to appoint attorneys to plead his case at a jury trial.

MIDDLETOWN POLICE HUNT FOR BANDIT

Man Believed To Be Wounded Kills Southern Ohio Cop and Wounds Another.

MIDDLETOWN, O., MAR. 20—With a policeman dead as the result of bullet wounds, and with another man wounded and a second believed to be wounded, authorities of southern Ohio today spread a dragnet for Richard Brewer, alleged Kentucky gangster, who is wanted here for the shooting of the patrolman last night.

Daniel Sandlin, 48, is the dead police officer. Wilson Griffith is under guard in a hospital and Brewer, who escaped after the shooting, is also believed to be wounded.

A third man who accompanied Griffith and Brewer, is under arrest. He is William Meeks, 37.

Patrolman Sandlin and a fellow officer, Roy Croust, accosted Griffith and Meeks in an automobile in front of an alleged "speak easy" in the tough "rolling mills" district last night and commanded them to "drive on." The two officers then continued on their way.

Glancing back, the officers saw Brewer emerge from the "speak easy" with a package under his arm and entered the automobile which was driven rapidly away.

Sandlin and Croust followed them in a police car, and finally forced them to the curb.

Brewer jumped from the car and started to run. Sandlin overtook him and during a struggle was shot and killed. Croust wounded Griffith when the latter attempted to make a break for freedom. Croust again fired at Brewer and said today that he believed he had wounded him.

Meeks made no attempt to enter in the gunplay. He was not armed and he is now being held as a witness to the affair.

AUTO, TRUCK IN COLLISION

Three Ashville Residents Have Narrow Escape In W. Main-St. Crash.

Mrs. E. B. Hay, Mrs. Tom Accord and daughter, Miss Maxine, all of Ashville, escaped injury Wednesday at 8 p. m. in a collision with a truck on W. Main-st.

The accident happened just after both cars had crossed the N. and W. tracks.

The truck driver, it appeared decided to turn north on Western-ave and whirled his car in front of the Studebaker sedan driven by Miss Accord. In the collision the Studebaker was dragged along the street and thrown against a telephone pole.

Mrs. Accord fainted from shock but was revived in a short time. The three residents of Ashville were returning home from Cincinnati where they visited Mrs. Hay's daughter, Elizabeth, at the College of Music.

The name of the truck driver was not learned.

MOTHER OF WAYNE COURTRIGHT DIES

WEATHER TO TURN COLDER

Alexander Says Cold Wave Will Be Last of Winter—Hits Tonight.

COLUMBUS, O., MAR. 20—What Weatherman W. H. Alexander described as "probably the last real cold snap of the year" will send temperatures in northern and central Ohio down to the 24-degree mark and tomorrow night, he said today.

As he jocularly observed that "the March lion has the lamb on the run," he stated that a cold wave from the Canadian Northwest entered the Montana-North Dakota area this morning and it is moving eastward.

Temperatures there, Alexander stated, are below zero. Havre, Montana reported a temperature of 8 degrees below zero, he continued, and in some places near the Canadian border temperatures sagged to from 20 to 25 degrees below zero.

The cold wave, according to the weatherman, will strike Ohio late tomorrow afternoon and night. Temperatures in northern and central Ohio will drop to 24 degrees, he predicts, and in southern Ohio the mercury will drop below the freezing mark.

PETIT JURORS ARE CALLED

Common Pleas Court To Hear Case of Frank Ward Vs. Scott Brill.

Petite jurors are ordered to report to the clerk's office to begin hearing the contested damage suit of Frank H. Ward against Scott W. Brill in a case in which Ward asks $302 for damages to his car in an accident and Brill filed a cross-petition and answer asking $611.51.

The case is the outgrowth of an accident on the Chillicothe Circleville-pk on December 28, seven and one-half miles south of Circleville. Both petitions say the wreck happened at about 6:30 p. m., that snow was falling hard making driving difficult.

Ward is represented by Barton Walters and Miller, Thompson and Dunbar of Columbus, while C. A. Weldon of this city and J. W. Deffenbaugh, Lancaster, represent Brill.

GLIDER MAN MEETS WITH N. A. A CLUB

Eugene Cernahan, sales manager of the Kysor-Eaglerock Co., of Niles, Michigan, distributors for the Alexander Airplane Co., of Colorado Springs, Colo., was a business visitor here.

He conferred with the officers of the local chapter of the N. A. A. in regards to the formation of a glider club in this city.

Late in the afternoon Mr. Cernahan demonstrated the maneuverability and stability of the Eagle-rock-Hisso powered ship he was flying. On this demonstration flight he carried George L. Critch and D. D. Dowden as passengers.

FIELDING YOST RAPS CHARGES OF WET FORCE

Michigan Coach Joins Alonzo Stagg In Upholding Youth of America.

WASHINGTON, March 20—Another broadside in support of prohibition was fired today by spokesmen for the drys who appeared before the House judiciary committee in opposition to modification bills.

Fielding H. Yost, famous "point-a-minute" Michigan football coach, joined his brother coach, Alonzo A. Stagg, in refutation of charges that there is more drinking now in college than in the old days.

And from Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue under the Wilson administration, came a sharp attack on the proposal advanced by some anti-prohibitionists to put the government in the liquor business after the Canadian fashion.

SENDS MESSAGE

Yost was unable to appear in person, but sent the committee a telegram which was presented by his sister, Mrs. Lenna Yost, who is generalissimo of the dry forces appearing before the committee.

"In my opinion the college youth of America are not drinking as much as they did in the pre-prohibition days," said the Yost telegram.

"No one is entirely satisfied with present conditions. Our government tried to control and regulate the sale of intoxicating liquor for a 100 years and made a miserable failure of it.

"Every one states he is opposed to the return of the saloon. However, any legalized place to sell liquor will serve the same purpose as place to buy intoxicating liquors.

"It is unfortunate that certain people of standing" by example furnish leadership to youth in law violations."

Roper detailed the history of the South Carolina dispensary law enacted in 1892. He said it was repealed 12 years later because of the evils which developed.

Governor Benjamin R. ("Pitchfork Ben") Tillman, who led the fight to establish the system, also led the fight to abolish it, he said.

Illicit sale of liquor continues in spite of the state dispensary system. Some bootleggers, he said, agreed to buy from the dispensary system if it in turn would protect them.

"The belief grew that the management of these dispensaries had degenerated into a graft machine using every effort to increase sales and make profits," said Roper.

"The result was a greater consumption of liquor, especially among the negroes and lower class of whites than ever before.

"Prominent citizens of the state alleged that, because drinking on premises was not allowed under the law, and as the minimum quantity sold was a half pint, drunkenness and rowdiness on the public highway had increased until the system had become intolerable.

"Graft in the administration of the law was proved," he said.

"After a 12 year trial, he said, the state adopted a policy of total prohibition."

81 years of age. He taught mathematics. Burial will be at Lexington, Kentucky, where Mrs. McCoard, who died several years ago, lies buried.

HOOVER LOOKS TO VACATION

First Warm Days of Spring Make President Think of Rapidan Camp.

WASHINGTON—With the first warm days of spring settling around the capital, President Hoover is looking forward to a resumption of his famous week-ends on the Rapidan river in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Ten days hence, Mr. Hoover plans to make his first trip of the season to the De Luxe Mountain Camp he had built last summer. He and a small group of friends will leave Washington by motor either Friday, March 28, or the following day.

Because the trout season does not open until April 1, the President will have to forego any fishing on his first trip. He will be enabled, however, to inspect the tariat, re-stocked the stream last year was opened recently so that the young Hill-Billies of the region could get "A little farin."

On ensuing week-ends, though, the presidential parties will have plenty of fishing. Lawrence Richey, of the White House Secretariat, re-stocked the stream last fall with choice trout from his own preserve at Catocin Furnace, Md.

Throughout the winter, a skeleton force of Marines has been kept at the Rapidan Camp. They reported today that everything was in ship-shape order, and predicted the mountain road leading to the group of cabins would be dry and safe for the heavy White House cars by the 28th.

The Rapidan camp achieved international fame last fall when the President and Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of England, spent a week-end there at which a preliminary understanding was reached in anticipation of the London Naval conference.

NEW HOLLAND

Miss Eloise Johnson of Columbus spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Daisy Johnson.

The Dilly Dally club met at the home of Miss Louise Vincent for their March meeting. A short business session was held and committees appointed for the serving of the Three T club banquet. The entertainment committee will be Mary Folden and Endora Arnold. Dorothy Renick and Geneva Kennedy decorating committee and Annabel White will arrange the tables. The club girls are going to give a play some time in April. Two contests were enjoyed. Neva Davis winning both contests. Refreshments were served at the close.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ankrum returned last week from a several months' stay in Texas. Mr. Ankrum is looking good and thinks he has been benefited by the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keller of Woodstock, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hickie and will take Mr. Keller's mother, Mrs. Mary Keller back with them for a visit.

The Good Cheer Circle of the M. E. church met in the church basement and held a social session last Friday night. Mrs. Mabel French, the president, presided during the business meeting. Miss Lena May and Miss Mary Porter arranged a very entertaining program of music and readings which proved a delightful entertainment for the "Circle." Mrs. Gayle Wright and Mrs. Mary Wood proved themselves a very capable committee in the serving of the refreshments.

The Ladies Aid of the Church of Christ will give a social at the church Thursday evening, March 27. A good program will be given and a good crowd is expected.

W. K. Vincent and family moved from the Dr. Coffman property to the Kauffman farm.

DAUGHTER PLANS SURPRISE
Miss Margaret Skinner planned a clever little surprise party for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Skinner at their home last Saturday night, the occasion reminding them of their wedding anniversary. The decorations were suggestions of St. Patrick's Day. Cards were the diversion of the evening. Guests who responded to the invitations were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Ater, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Ater, Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer and children, Glenn, Ruby, Virgil and Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barch and daughter Annabel, Miss Kathryn Bowman and John Adams.

P. T. A. PROGRAM

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. was held in the school auditorium last Wednesday night. Mrs. Anna Skinner presided during the business session. Committees appointed for the April meeting: Program committee, Miss Elsie Fife, Mrs. Ed. Brown and Mrs. Mae Betts; social committee, Mrs. Ethel French, Mrs. Blanche Hoskins and Mrs. Helen Miller. Officers for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting.

Program

Music, School Orchestra; Song, 1st Grade Pupils; Song, Evelyn Creighton, accompanist; R. A. Creighton, Vocal Duet, Annalee Hot, Grace Zimmerman; Reading, "Busy," Annalee McCune; Vocal solo, Josephine Knapp; Address, Judge E. A. Brown. Mr. Brown gave a very forceful talk, using for his subject, "Living Today."

He brought to mind when he was a pupil in the little red school house some 50 years ago; he said school teaching is the greatest profession in the land, praise, honor and glory to the man or woman who give their lives to school teaching. Living today—don't care to live the past. Why do we care to live today, not for curiosity, but for hope of living tomorrow, that our ancestors may be proud of us. Never a finer time to live than today, and in drinking from the cup of life remember that the sugar is at the bottom. We are living too fast, we don't observe the red and green lights in life; live right today and you will be right tomorrow, observe the red light—stop. Living today.

Light the lamp of life with the oil of love, love for home, love for parents and love for self. At the close of Mr. Brown's address the orchestra furnished some excellent music. The refreshment committee, Mrs. Cora Evans, Mrs. James Morris and Mrs. Florence Farmer invited the crowd to the basement.

where an excellent lunch was in waiting.

The Food That Fights Fat

It's a gland food, now used to combat the known cause of so much excess fat. Doctors now employ it the world over. Add now, without starvation, multitudes are gaining new youth and beauty, vim and vigor. You see the results wherever you look. Fat is the exception now. Marmola prescription tablets embody this modern method. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Some of your own friends, doubtless, can show you what they do. Let them bring you what they have brought to you. The results will delight and amaze you. A book in the box explains the effects. Go now and ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola. You owe that to yourself.

That COLD

Colds come suddenly. You can often end them just as quickly! Take Bayer Aspirin the moment you've caught one. A single sneeze should be the signal, or the first sign of congestion or headache, or soreness. Exposure to cold and wet isn't half so serious when you've learned to protect yourself with Bayer Aspirin. For the speedy relief of colds, headaches, neuralgic or neuritic pain, and even the acute suffering caused by rheumatism, there is nothing so sure and so safe as genuine Aspirin tablets stamped Bayer. They make a marvelous gargle, too. See proven directions in every package.

VETERAN TEACHER AT O. S. U. TAKEN

COLUMBUS, O., Mar. 20.—Forty-eight years of continuous service on the faculty of the Ohio State University ended here with the death of Professor George W. McCoard today.

McCoard was the oldest member of the Ohio State faculty, both in age and in the number of years on the faculty of the Ohio State University. He was 81 years of age. He taught mathematics.

HOOVER LOOKS TO VACATION

First Warm Days of Spring Make President Think of Rapidan Camp.

WASHINGTON.—With the first warm days of spring settling around the capital, President Hoover is looking forward to a resumption of his famous week-ends on the Rapidan river in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Ten days hence, Mr. Hoover plans to make his first trip of the season to the De Luxe Mountain Camp he had built last summer. He and a small group of friends will leave Washington by motor either Friday, March 28, or the following day.

Because the trout season does not open until April 1, the President will have to forego any fishing on his first trip. He will be enabled, however, to inspect the tariat, re-stocked the stream last was opened recently so that the young Hill-Billies of the region could get "A little larin."

On ensuing week-ends, though, the presidential parties will have plenty of fishing. Lawrence Richey, of the White House Secretariat, re-stocked the stream last fall with choice trout from his own preserve at Catoctin Furnace, Md.

Throughout the winter, a skeleton force of Marines has been kept at the Rapidan Camp. They reported today that everything was in ship-shape order, and predicted the mountain road leading to the group of cabins would be dry and safe for the heavy White House cars by the 28th.

The Rapidan camp achieved international fame last fall when the President and Premier Ramsay MacDonald, of England, spent a week-end there at which a preliminary understanding was reached in anticipation of the London Naval conference.

NEW HOLLAND

Miss Eloise Johnson of Columbus, spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Daisy Johnson.

The Dilly Dally club met at the home of Miss Louise Vincent for their March meeting. A short business session was held and committees appointed for the serving of the Three T club banquet. The entertainment committee will be Mary Folden and Endora Arnold. Dorothy Renick and Geneva Kennedy decorating committee and Annabel White will arrange the tables. The club girls are going to give a play some time in April. Two contests were enjoyed, Neva Davis winning both contests. Refreshments were served at the close.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ankrum returned last week from a several months' stay in Texas. Mr. Ankrum is looking good and thinks he has been benefited by the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Keller of Woodstock, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hickie and will take Mr. Keller's mother, Mrs. Mary Keller back with them for a visit.

The Good Cheer Circle of the M. E. church met in the church basement and held a social session last Friday night. Mrs. Mabel French, the president, presided during the business meeting. Miss Lena May and Miss Mary Porter arranged a very entertaining program of music and readings which proved a delightful entertainment for the "Circle." Mrs. Gayle Wright and Mrs. Mary Wood proved themselves a very capable committee in the serving of the refreshments.

The Ladies' Aid of the Church of Christ will give a social at the church Thursday evening, March 27. A good program will be given and a good crowd is expected.

W. K. Vincent and family moved from the Dr. Coffman property to the Kauffman farm.

ATLANTA

DAUGHTER PLANS SURPRISE

Miss Margaret Skinner planned a clever little surprise party for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Skinner at their home last Saturday night, the occasion reminding them of their wedding anniversary. The decorations were suggestions of St. Patrick's Day. Cards were the diversion of the evening. Guests who responded to the invitations were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Heber Ater, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Ater, Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer and children, Glenn, Ruby, Virgil and Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barch and daughter Annabel, Miss Kathryn Bowman and John Adams.

P. T. A. PROGRAM

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. was held in the school auditorium last Wednesday night. Mrs. Anna Skinner presided during the business session. Committees appointed for the April meeting: Program committee, Miss Elsie Fife, Mrs. Ed. Brown and Mrs. Mae Betts; social committee, Mrs. Ethel French, Mrs. Blanche Hoskins and Mrs. Helen Miller. Officers for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting.

Program

Music, School Orchestra; Song, 1st Grade Pupils; Song, Evelyn Creighton, accompanist; R a y Creighton; Vocal Duet, Annalee Hott, Grace Zimmerman; Reading, "Busy," Annalee McCune; Vocal solo, Josephine Knapp; Address, Judge E. A. Brown. Mr. Brown gave a very forceful talk, using for his subject, "Living Today."

He brought to mind when he was a pupil in the little red school house some 50 years ago; he said school teaching is the greatest profession in the land, praise, honor and glory to the man or woman who give their lives to school teaching. Living today—don't care to live the past. Why do we care to live today, not for curiosity, but for hope of living tomorrow, that our ancestors may be proud of us. Never a finer time to live than today and in drinking from the cup of life remember that the sugar is at the bottom.

We are living too fast, we don't observe the red and green lights in life; live right today and you will be right tomorrow, observe the red light—stop. Living today. Light the lamp of life with the oil of love, love for home, love for parents and love for self. At the close of Mr. Brown's address the orchestra furnished some excellent music. The refreshment committee, Mrs. Cora Evans, Mrs. James Morris and Mrs. Florence Farmer invited the crowd to the basement.

where an excellent lunch was in waiting.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR MOTHER

Miss Mildred Morris honored her mother with a surprise party at their home near Jeffersonville last Sunday, the occasion complimenting her birthday anniversary. A lovely noon dinner was served. The birthday cake was baked by Mrs. Ed. Brown. The candles on the cake were lighted one by one by Miss Mildred Morris and during the impressive ceremony a wish was in the heart of each one present that Mrs. Morris may be permitted to enjoy many more such occasions. Those in charge of arrangements are deserving only of the highest praise for the manner in which the affair was carried out. Those from this community who motored up for the day were Mr. and Mrs. James Morris and children Forest, Nellie Doris, Junior and Pauline, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brown, children William and Nellie, Mrs. Alice Moore, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett and son Bertus Carleton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mowser and children Roma, Eleanor, Bob and Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bowers. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morris and son Willard of West Jefferson; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Morris and family of Bloomingburg; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Huff and Mr. and Mrs. Loy Morris and son Bobbie of Springfield; Buss Huff of Jeffersonville; Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. George Hall and son Junior, of Washington C. H. and L. E. Morris and family.

John Edwin Peck spent Saturday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Peck.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mills and children Pauline and Paul, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunlap at Mt. Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Garrison of Clarksburg were guests Wednesday evening of Mander Irwins.

Mrs. Ernest Strophe who has been a patient at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, for some time, was brought to her home Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kanack of Stoutsville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Conrad.

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Peck, Miss Grace Peck and Mrs. Paul Peck were shopping in Columbus last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mills, Harry Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Holloway and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mills and sons composed a dinner party with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stevenson at their home near Ashville, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tarbill and grandson John Edwin, motored to Chillicothe Sunday afternoon and witnessed "Hit the Deck" at the Sherman Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Lingo and Miss Betty Doyle spent Sunday with Loren Lingo and family near Williamsport.

FIVE POINTS

Mrs. Alice Downs has been appointed matron and Mrs. Letha Lucas assistant matron of the old Ladies home at Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Page of Columbus spent Tuesday and Wednesday here disposing of the household goods of Mrs. Ida Timmons, deceased.

Miss Helen Long was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. William Heiskill at Williamsport Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas Wilkey entertained with a taffy pulling on Thursday night. They expect to leave for their new home near Grange Hall next week.

Mr. DeLos Marcy of Athens who is visiting his father and mother at Williamsport called on friends here Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Page of Columbus, Mrs. Chas. Hasler and daughter, and Mrs. Lillian Busic were the dinner guests of Mrs. George Downs Wednesday.

The pupils of the Hill school gave an entertainment at the high school auditorium Friday night entitled, "Aunt Jermy on the War Path," which everyone seemed to enjoy. The same play will be given at Mt. Sterling on Tuesday night.

The W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Marion Davis in Mt. Sterling Wednesday.

The many friends of Mrs. Geo. Rayburn, who has been seriously ill for the last few weeks will be pleased to learn that she is much better at this writing.

Mrs. Clara Bauhan received news of the death of her niece who was formerly Miss Doris Deyo daughter of Joseph Deyo. Her funeral was Sunday.

The Food That Fights Fat

It's a gland food, now used to correct the known cause of so much excess fat. Doctors now employ it the world over. And now, without starvation, multitudes are gaining new youth and beauty, vim and vigor. You see the results wherever you look. Fat is the exception now.

Marmola's prescription tablets embody this modern method. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. Some of your own friends, doubtless, can show you what they do.

Let them bring you what they have brought to so many. The results will delight and amaze you. A book in the box explains the effects. Go now and ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola. You owe that to yourself.

THREE KILLED, ONE HURT IN EXPLOSION

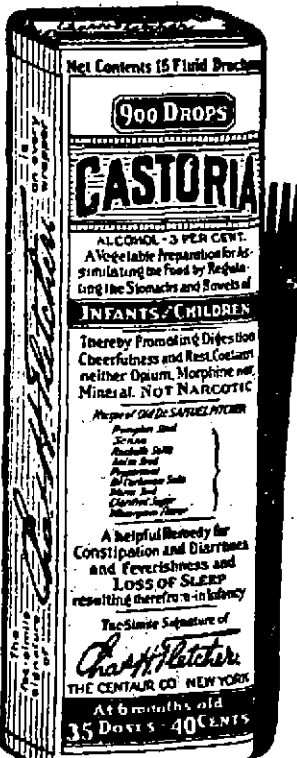

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Mar. 20.—Three persons were killed and one was badly hurt in an explosion of an oil-burning locomotive near Nashville freight locomotive near Nashville, Tenn. early Tuesday morning according to word received at the railroad district offices here today.

The dead according to the report

were:
Aaron Moss, fireman, of Evansville, Ind.
Henry L. Russell, brakeman, of Evansville, Ind.
An unidentified man.
Joseph T. Crandall, engineer, of Evansville, Ind. was injured.
The accident occurred on a siding between Guthrie and Springfield, Tenn. and the blast set fire to 31 freight cars some of them tank cars filled with gasoline. The flames from this fire leaped high into the sky and could be seen for miles.

One fine thing about naval disarmament conference is that it enables all the powers to get a lot of credit for scrapping naval junk that would have to be scrapped anyway.

The upsets of Children

All children are subject to little upsets. They come at unexpected times. They seem twice as serious in the dead of night. But there's one form of comfort on which a mother can always rely; good old Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation can't harm the tiniest infant. Yet mild as it is, it soothes a restless, fretful baby like nothing else. Its quick relief soon sees the youngster comfortable once more, back to sleep. Even an attack of colic, or diarrhea, yields to the soothing influence of Castoria. Keep Castoria in mind, and keep a bottle in the house—always. Give a few drops to any child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is bad. Continue with Castoria until the child is grown! Every drugstore has Castoria; the genuine has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Dear Sir and Friend:

I believe that great Storehouse of Moral Guidance, the Holy Bible, has a statement relative to the number of things that passeth the understanding of one certain commentator. To his list I would add many more that passeth my personal comprehension, including the way of the moral pervert, the Undercover Dog Poisoner.

A two-year-old playful bull pup in good and legal standing with the tax assessors of his beloved community—I wonder if his poisoner can point to a similar record—escorts his master to work one morning. Bidding him an affectionate adieu after demonstrating canine thanks for a substantial breakfast, this sharer of a master's romps and companion of his worldly fortunes is next observed marching home to reside over its environs.

No cave cavern has ever been known to designate his domicile; he has been a peaceful if friendly resident and not given to engendering strife and discord even to promote his own "political" interests. Indeed, he is a divider of lunch and a sharer of his outdoor bed with those of his kind—can his poisoner point to such a Christian like record?

His childish friends being engaged, he strolls into a nearby yard to investigate the presence of three sparrows found lying rigid upon the ground. There he discovers a "communal bone" often observed previously in this place. A pedigree is not sufficient hereditary influence to inform him that this plaything is a device of the "Evil One." He is a thoroughbred and inherently believes in the essential good will of his environmental agents—can his perfidious poisoner hold to such a tenet?

Fifteen minutes later he struggles to reach that haven where kind words and understanding hands have always comforted him. But those pairs of hands were elsewhere laboring to earn an honest dollar. Did his cunning poisoner count on that?

And so in convulsions he died, even as six others of his race perished within two city blocks of that pernicious spot. A neighbor who loved him said, "He gained more friends among mankind in his two years than some swamps of public opinion garner in two score and ten." Can his baneful poisoner produce such testimony? His usual quiet sleep of evenings has become permanent. Not for him the troublesome slumber of the pestiferous poisoner. The lines, "Macbeth doth murder sleep," are not meant for him. He was a Buddy to me and a friend to all. Rather would I champion his cause, though it is a lost one, that guilty submit to the wilful whims of his self esteemed, self-appointed, pertinacious poisoner. All facts in this article have been verified by witnesses, records, and analyses for a certain poison. What has that odoriferous specimen of the animal kingdom, which is below the order of the dog in intelligence, usefulness and other evolutionary values, on his mind, if any?

A High-st resident.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses. Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Hamilton & Ryan or any live drugstore anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.—Adv.

Mother Finds Way To Keep Murine's Stomach Sweet

"Murine's little stomach is always sweet now," says her mother, Mrs. Sarah Lang of 3304 West Van Buren St., Chicago. "I give her a little Acidine which tastes just like peppermint, at night. That takes away the acidity which comes when children eat too much cake and candy."

When children get sick and become puffy or unexpectedly, it's the excessive acidity, Mother. They make your child drowsy. Give her Acidine—she'll like it, and before you know it she will brighten up and look like a child that 2 million people believe in Acidine because it is so sure, good to take and inexpensive. Steady employment of these people makes Circleville the home of satisfied citizens — and the independents best customers.

YET—Circleville Quality Products are sold only by a few Circleville Independent Merchants

WHY—Do the Circleville Independent Merchants, in many instances, place a ban on products made in Circleville? It is not inferior merchandise or products, for their sales are large in other sections. The manufacturers of the products have been recognized as makers of quality products —products that meet the standards of the most exacting buyers and users elsewhere—why not in Circleville—the home of the origin?

The Independent Dealers of Circleville ask Mr. Taxpayer to patronize home town stores—Why should not these Independent Dealers support home Industry—and sell their product?

CIVIC-MINDED STORES

A large department store in a big city celebrates its sixtieth anniversary by offering scholarships to local pupils in local institutions of learning. There are four scholarships, one each for a men's college, a woman's college, a business college and a mixed college. In addition to paying the student's tuition the store offers them, if they wish it, part time employment during the school term and in vacations.

The store confesses to a double motive—to help worthy students regardless of what careers they take up later to develop future executives for its own organization. The board of management explains.

"The company is sincerely desirous of developing its future department store executives right here in the city. We desire to see the ranks of our important managerial positions filled up by men and women who have worked their way up from local surroundings. We do not desire to be compelled to go out of town to select men and women for our important positions."

One of the criticisms of chain store methods is that they ignore the local community, doing their banking, their buying, their hiring, outside. This store's scholarship plan is likely to create good will because it so frankly a community philanthropy with community benefits in view.

CIVIL LIBERTIES RECORD

According to a survey made by the American Civil Liberties Union, individuals were brought into court in 1929 on charges ranging from "failure to treat the American flag with respect" to criminal syndicalism. There were 228 free speech cases during the year, fewer than 1928. There were more strike cases, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California prosecuted several individuals under sedition and criminal syndicalism laws, the first political prisoners in this country since 1924.

During the year 52 meetings, chiefly in New York, were broken up by the police. There was mob violence in five communities as compared with only one the previous year. There were 11 lynchings, the same number as in 1928. Two persons of some prominence, Roska Schwiner, of peace ship and Douglas C. MacIntosh of Yale, were refused citizenship because they would not take the usual oath to bear arms for this country.

State troops were used in three southern states during strikes. In one state seven persons were killed, 24 wounded and 13 prosecuted because of labor disturbances.

It is a bad record from one standpoint. Liberal Americans would like to feel that all civil liberties were guaranteed to all persons in the country. Whatever their theories. On the other hand, it is probably a fairly good record. The country is large, and these events involved few persons on each side in proportion to the whole population.

"MASTER of MONEY" - BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER XXXIX.

YOU at least suspected that Maurois was a person of importance here—I know that he is the Big Boss and has this rotten little local government in his pocket. I think you used the old technique, Shirley, the technique you learned from your father and tried to apply with your husband—and would have done so if he hadn't been a greedy fool, I daresay. You met Maurois at the right time—and you talked to him in the right way.

"I still don't understand," said Shirley. "I myself told you, in his presence, that Maurois must have helped."

"You heard him refuse my offer of shares in return for his help?" "But—that is not my fault!" she protested.

"He does not look to me for his reward, Shirley. That man is one of the shrewdest men on earth and I should say one of the most disillusioned. I think he probably knows all there is to know about you and me—he's in touch with Cynax, for one thing. That man would not stir his little finger without reward—or the hope of reward."

Shirley said nothing. The strength had gone out of her and she was drifting. Alan was right again with the same irrelevant tightness, unanswerable from this point of view yet never seeing the tiniest glimpse of her. Looking backwards she could see nothing but justification for Alan's belief. There was that first ambiguous conversation in Maurois, she could admit now that she the commission in the same breath with the dream woman and his terrible ideal of loading a woman with possessions. Of course, he had been offering her a bribe then. He knew about Roger and he wanted to get her away from Alan. She ought to have cut Maurois after that. She had refrained from cutting him because she feared his influence with Stavros. Over the weeks of their subsequent association he had discovered that she was more difficult than he had believed at first and had changed his tactics by giving her the bribe.

That was Alan's inference. What could she say? In a way, she had said it. She had said it in a way that she could admit now that she had taken no step to prevent him from doing himself in. It was a pity that she had not cut Maurois the moment she had seen him. She had been too weak.

"I'm afraid I shall be up-country all the summer," he added "laying under canvas most of the time. I expect."

"I haven't thought of what I shall do," said Shirley. "But anyhow I shall stay with you for the present." She told him with her voice that she did not care for any further discussion at the point. He accepted the situation with a placid air and began to talk breezily of his plans.

"It will take me the better part of a fortnight to get the gang together," he explained. "Then there will be the question of arranging supplies—and in the meantime there will be the old mortar lozenges to be distributed. Somehow or other I shall have to squeeze in time to get together the nucleus of a clerical staff. If your offer to him stands, I shall be glad of it when it comes to checking up the stores. But it will be deadly dull."

"You're well out of that anyway," said Alan indifferently. "That was perfectly true, thought Shirley, but his indifference was disturbing. He seemed to have dismissed the matter from his mind for the moment."

"I shall have to fly over the ground today. I don't know whether I shall have time to see the house agent. I was looking at a letter before I came down and I find we took the place for six months. That means we've got another two months. I suppose we shall be able to get rid of it at night, though."

"I shall keep it on," she said. She avoided his eye but felt him glance at her. "It isn't so very expensive and I don't want to go back to the Lutetia."

"But—why remain in the country?" he asked. "The Summer will be here soon—in a few weeks almost—and then there will be the risk of malaria and forty other things."

That told her that he definitely

glad of it when it comes to checking up the stores. But it will be deadly dull."

"I don't mind what the work is as long as I can do it," answered Shirley. Again she told herself that he was back again in the breezy, companionable mood. Overnight she had changed her theory that in some queer way he was jealous of Maurois. But today he seemed to have nothing at the back of his thoughts.

His attitude to her was frank, unembarrassed and wholly individual, as it had been ever since that night when he had taken her to the opera. He was teasing her, easily and comfortably, almost as if she had been another man. At midday he sent her a message requesting her to join him at his office, where she sat down and copied out lists of stores. Daily after that she left the house with him in the morning and spent long hours in the office in clerical drudgery, often without seeing him until he came to take her home for dinner. Sometimes they would return to the office together after lunch and work far into the night. He kept her too busy to think and for that she was thankful.

Before she realized the lapse of time, there came the day when the troops set off up-country. On the following day Alan and his gang were to join them and work under their protection.

That night she helped him with his personal packing and on the following morning went down with him to the local depot where the gang was assembled. The depot was thronged with men and women of the different Balkan nationalities, sitting on their bundles, talking, quarrelling.

"Why have the women come to say good-bye?" asked Shirley. "No—they're going to be explained. They're going to be good workers—the men are not. We've got a hundred and forty men told, and fifty of them are women. I'm taking half of them today and the other half are coming up tomorrow under a forlorn hope. We have only twenty horses and that's about as much as we can carry with the stores and equipment."

"To Be Continued Tomorrow."

DR. COPELAND SAYS—

High Blood Pressure

Dr. Copeland's Health Topic Today.

Bad Teeth or Tonsils May Be the Underlying Cause of This Symptom, Says Authority, Urging a Survey of the General Health.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D. United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Only late I have received letters from a great many persons about high blood pressure. Even though I have written several articles on this subject during the past few months, it may be wise to write another.

People are disturbed because the doctors tell them they have a pressure of 215 or 220, or whatever it may be. But the fact is blood pressure in and of itself is of little consequence. What is of real importance is the underlying condition of health.

If a person finds out he has high blood pressure the first thing to do is to make a survey of the general health. Find out if there is some trouble, even though it is not seemingly important. That very trouble may have a possible effect upon the pressure. Indeed, almost any condition of ill health may have this as one of its symptoms. Bad teeth or tonsils may produce

Many cases of high blood pressure are the result of improper kidney action. An involvement of the kidneys, what we commonly call "Bright's Disease," is a factor. Examination of the urine determines a whole lot as regards this disability.

In its turn, kidney disease may be the result of an infection in the system. It is not uncommon after scarlet fever, typhoid fever, or some other of the so-called infectious diseases, to have an involvement of the kidneys. With it we may find high blood pressure as a symptom.

Worry, homesickness and any other undesirable state of mind is a factor of importance. Any unhappy mental disturbance is likely to break the rest. Consequently the physical functions are not performing as they should and high blood pressure may result.

It is not unnatural for a person disturbed over the possibility of this symptom to reduce the diet to a dangerous degree. In spite of the failure of certain organs to function as they should, the reduction of the eating may be so great as to cause weakness and depression. Enough food must be taken to keep the body well nourished and to supply the energy necessary for our activities.

It is impossible to lay down hard and fast rules for the control of high blood pressure. The individual element must be considered in every case. Of course, the family doctor will advise regarding a particular case. He will find out what is wrong and advise you accordingly.

Answers to Health Queries

E. S. Q.—What is a good definition of "muscle-bound"?

A.—Affected with a form of muscular trouble, characterized by lessening of elasticity. Frequently seen in athletes—due to excessive exercise. Some persons lack that freedom of muscular action that is common to most people. They cannot bat a ball or swing an axe or a golf club freely because they are "muscle bound." This term is the popular one to describe such tightness or tenseness of muscles.

AT THE CLIFTONA

Billie Dove is proving more sure with every picture that she makes, that she is more than "the screen's most beautiful woman." If "Her Private Life" doesn't establish her as one of the screen's most capable actresses, this critic misses his guess.

Heading the bill at the Cliftona Theatre "Her Private Life" presents Miss Dove in a highly dramatic plot. Its atmosphere of refined, aristocratic life is a relief, especially in a talking picture, from the "show-girl" type of film, with its "dese, dem and dose" slang.

If you didn't see Billie in "Careers," her initial talking picture for First National, you'll be glad to learn that her voice in the new medium is as beautiful as her screen presence. It fits her, too. And in "Her Private Life" either the reproduction is even better than before, or she has improved with "talkie" practice.

Walter Pidgeon, her leading man, charms as much by his voice as by his handsome and striking screen personality. Ideally fitted for the part of a gentlemanly, sporting young American who visits in England and wins the heart of the English girl, then loses her for his sister's honor, Pidgeon wins new laurels in the film.

AT THE GRAND

"Nix On The James," a singing comedy smash, with Robert Ames, William Harrigan and Mac O'Grady is the feature attraction at the Grand Theatre this evening. Talking News and a Vitaphone act are also listed.

NEWSPAPER MAN OUT FOR OFFICE

Cleveland, O., Mar. 20.—D. Gallagher, former Cleveland newspaperman, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Three Democrats are now in the running for the party gubernatorial nomination. The other two are Stephen Young of Cleveland and George White of Marietta.

Gallagher, in announcing his candidacy, stated that he has nominating petitions already in circulation in eight counties.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

"Everything is hopelessly muddled," she said wearily. "I can't hope to explain, Alan."

His attitude to her was frank, unembarrassed and wholly individual, as it had been ever since that night when he had taken her to the opera. He was treating her easily and comfortably, almost as if she had been another man.

At midday he sent her a message requesting her to join him at his office, where she sat down and copied out lists of stores. Daily after that she left the house with him in the morning and spent long hours in the office in clerical drudgery, often without seeing him until he came to take her home for dinner. Sometimes they would return to the office together after

She Spent Long Hours in the Office in Clerical Drudgery.

He kept her too busy to think and for that she was thankful.

Before she realized the lapse of time, there came the day when the troops set off up-country. On the following day Alan and his gang were to join them and work under their protection.

That night she helped him with his personal packing and on the following morning went down with him to the local depot where the gang was assembled. The depot was thronged with men and women of the different Balkan nationalities, sitting on their bundles, talking, quarrelling.

"Why have the women come—to say good-bye?" asked Shirley. "No—they're going," he explained. "They're jolly good workers—the men see to that. We've got a hundred and forty, all told, and fifty of them are women. I'm taking half of them today and the other half are coming up tomorrow under a foreman. We have only twenty lorries and that's about as much as we can carry with the stores and equipment."

DR. COPELAND SAYS—

High Blood Pressure

Dr. Copeland's Health Topic Today.

Bad Teeth or Tonsils May Be the Underlying Cause of This Symptom, Says Authority, Urging a Survey of the General Health.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

OF late I have received letters from a great many persons about high blood pressure. Even though I have written several articles on this subject during the past few months, it may be wise to write another.

DR. COPELAND.

People are disturbed because the doctors tell them they have a pressure of 215 or 220, or whatever it may be. But the fact is blood pressure in and of itself is of little consequence. What is of real importance is the underlying condition of health.

If a person finds out he has high blood pressure the first thing to do is to make a survey of the general health. Find out if there is some trouble, even though it is not seemingly important. That very trouble may have a possible effect upon the pressure. Indeed, almost any condition of ill health may have this as one of its symptoms. Bad teeth or tonsils may produce it.

Many cases of high blood pressure are the result of improper kidney action. An involvement of the kidneys, what we commonly call "Bright's Disease," is a factor. Examination of the urine determines a whole lot as regards this disability.

In its turn, kidney disease may be the result of an infection in the system. It is not uncommon after scarlet fever, typhoid fever, or some other of the so-called infectious diseases, to have an involvement of the kidneys. With it we may find high blood pressure as a symptom.

Worry, homesickness and any other undesirable state of mind is a factor of importance. Any unhappy mental disturbance is likely to break the rest. Consequently the physical functions are not performing as they should and high blood pressure may result.

It is not unnatural for a person disturbed over the presence of this symptom to reduce the diet to a dangerous degree. In spite of the failure of certain organs to function as they should, the reduction of the eating may be so great as to cause weakness and depression. Enough food must be taken to keep the body well nourished and to supply the energy necessary for its activities.

It is impossible to lay down hard and fast rules for the control of high blood pressure. The individual element must be considered in every case.

Of course, the family doctor will advise regarding a particular case. He will find out what is wrong and advise you accordingly.

Answers to Health Queries

E. S. Q.—What is a good definition of "muscle-bound"?

A.—Affected with a form of muscular trouble, characterized by lessening of elasticity. Frequently seen in athletes—due to excessive exercise. Some persons lack that freedom of muscular action that is common to most people. They cannot bat a ball or swing an axe or a golf club freely because they are "muscle-bound." This term is the popular one to describe such tightness or tenseness of muscles.

Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA

Billie Dove is proving more surety with every picture that she makes, that she is more than "the screen's most beautiful woman." If "Her Private Life" doesn't establish her as one of the screens most capable actresses, this critic misses his guess.

Heading the bill at the Cliftona Theatre "Her Private Life" presents Miss Dove in a highly dramatic plot. Its atmosphere of refined, aristocratic life is a relief, especially in a talking picture, from the "show-girl" type of film, with its "dese, dem and dose" language.

If you didn't see Billie in "Careers," her initial talking picture for First National, you'll be glad to learn that her voice in the new medium is as beautiful as her screen presence. It fits her, too. And in "Her Private Life" either the reproduction is even better than before, or she has improved with "talkie" practice.

Walter Pidgeon, her leading man, charms as much by his voice as by his handsome and striking screen personality. Ideally fitted for the part of a gentlemanly, sporting young American who visits in England and wins the heart of the English girl, then loses her for his sister's honor, Pidgeon wins new laurels in the film.

AT THE GRAND

"Nix On The Dames," a singing comedy smash, with Robert Ames William Harrigan and Mae Clark is the feature attraction at the Grand Theatre this evening. Talking News and a Vitaphone act are also listed.

NEWSPAPER MAN

OUT FOR OFFICE

Cleveland, O., Mar. 20.—Dan Gallagher, former Cleveland newspaperman, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Three Democrats are now in the running for the party gubernatorial nomination. The other two are Stephen Young of Cleveland and George White of Marietta.

Gallagher, in announcing his candidacy, stated that he has nominating petitions already in circulation in eight counties.

Has the laxative in your home a family doctor's approval?

MOST of us value our health too much to purposely neglect ourselves when we are warned of constipation by bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, a headache, lack of appetite, or that weak, helpless feeling. The continuation of our trouble is more often due to the things we do rather than the things we leave undone.

Some things people do to help the bowels really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what things will cleanse the system without harm. That's why the laxative in your home should have a family doctor's approval.

A wonderful product now known to millions of people as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in his many years of practice at Monticello, Illinois. He proved it safe and reliable for women and children; thoroughly effective for the most robust men. He showed it actually corrects constipation. It is made from fresh herbs and other pure ingredients.

Since Dr. Caldwell first permitted his prescription to be put up in bottles and sold through drug stores, it has increased steadily in popularity until today it is the largest selling laxative in the world!

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Dear Sir and Friend:
I believe that great Storehouse of Moral Guidance, the Holy Bible, has a statement relative to the number of things that passeth the understanding of one certain commentator. To his list I would add many more that passeth my personal comprehension, including the way of the moral pervers, the Undercover Dog Poisoner.
A two-year-old playful bull pup in good and legal standing with the tax assessors of his beloved community—I wonder if his poisoner can point to a similar record—escorts his master to work one morning. Bidding him an affectionate adieu after demonstrating canine thanks for a substantial breakfast, this sharer of a master's romps and companion of his worldly fortunes is next observed marching home to preside over its environs.

No cave cavern has ever been known to designate his domicile; he has been a peaceful if friendly resident and not given to engendering strife and discord even to promote his own "political" interests. Indeed, he is a divider of lurch and a sharer of his outdoor bed with those of his kind—can his poisoner point to such a Christian like record?

His childish friends being engaged, he strolls into a nearby yard to investigate the presence of three sparrows found lying rigid upon the ground. There he discovers a "communal bone" often observed previously in this place. A pedigree is not sufficient hereditary influence to inform him that this plaything is a device of the Evil One. He is a thoroughbred and inherently believes in the essential good will of his environmental agents—can his perfidious poisoner hold to such a tenet?

Fifteen minutes later he struggles to reach that haven where kind words and understanding hands have always comforted him. But those pairs of hands were elsewhere laboring to earn an honest dollar. Did his cunning poisoner count on that?

And so in convulsions he died, even as six others of his race perished within two city blocks of that pernicious spot. A neighbor who loved him said, "He gained more friends among mankind in his two years than some swamps of public opinion garner in two score and ten." Can his baneful poisoner produce such testimony?

His usual quiet sleep of evenings has become permanent. Not for him the troublesome slumber of the pestiferous poisoner. The lines, "Macbeth doth murder sleep," are not meant for him. He was a Buddy to me and a friend to all. Rather would I champion his cause, though it is a lost one, that guilty submit to the wilful whims of his self esteemed, self-appointed, pertinacious poisoner. All facts in this article have been verified by witnesses, records, and analyses for a certain poison. What has that odoriferous specimen of the animal kingdom, which is below the order of the dog in intelligence, usefulness and other evolutionary values, on his mind, if any?

A High-st resident.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Hamilton & Ryan or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back—Adv.

OBITUARY

In loving memory of my husband who was accidentally killed. No one knows the silent heart-ache, Only those who have lost can tell. Of the grief that is borne in silence.

For my dear Husband I loved so well.
More and more each day I miss you,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within my heart concealed.

Daddy dear I am so lonesome,
For I miss your loving face;
But you left me to remember
No one else can take your place.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, March 20—The new heavyweight champion of the world is Victorio Campolo, of the Argentine, who won the title in magnificent fashion yesterday without leaving his training quarters at Orangeburg, N. J. nobody saw him win the championship but why he technical? I distinctly heard him do it.

What was he going to do with John Risko in the Cancer Hospital Fund Show on Monday night? Knock him out. What did he intend to do if he ever got Sharkey in the ring? Knock him out. What were his plans for Primo Carnera? Quite so: the beeg Gaucho, he would knock him out—pouff! like that. I gathered that he held Primo in very light esteem and would be willing to fight the man around behind the gas works any time after dark.

"Si, si; it is to laugh," said he, and thereupon did laugh, showing several of his tonsils. "Risko on Monday night. Carnera on Tuesday night."

Just a simple, unaffected fellow confessing his inability to understand why the rest of them bothered trying. What is this strange power I have over men? He seemed to ask, and being at a loss to explain the matter, simply shook his head in a puzzled way and gave it up.

The man was talking through his interpreter. Anyhow, I'm almost certain it was his interpreter. Somebody said it was his hat but, if that was the case, why wasn't his interpreter out there hanging on the hall rack where he belonged?

It was all very confusing and even the senior's explanation of his fight with Risko at Miami, logical as it was, somehow didn't allay my dubious and unreasonable mind. It seemed the Senior had a cut on his forehead when he entered the ring and feared that, if he beat Risko up too bad, the cut naturally would re-opened and distress the assembled Palm. Beachers very much. So he didn't beat Risko up too badly and, while he was doing this all night long, the referee stepped in and called it a draw. So it was chivalry and not Risko who got Victorio all those thumps upon the countenance that night. Being a fellow who usually is not able to comprehend these little nuances of a situation, I was glad that Victorio had taken me into his confidence and frankly told me about it. For instance, it had been my mistaken impression that the referee who said Risko got no better than a draw in that fight had to be taken out behind the barn later on and destroyed.

But, no, this was not so. As a matter of fact, it seemed that Victorio had decided to be big about it and completely forgive that referee.

EXPLOSION TAKES MECHANIC'S LIFE

DAYTON, O., Mar. 20—The explosion and $150,000 fire at the Wright flying field of the United States Army here Wednesday had exacted the life of Forest Rutledge, 26, an airplane mechanic.

Rutledge was fatally burned and another mechanic was seriously burned as the result of the blast, which resulted from the ignition of fumes leaking from a dump valve on a tank of one airplane. Five airplanes were destroyed by the flames.

Best For Bad Stomachs

BRINGS INSTANT RELIEF

Druggists Report Enormous Sales of New Pepsin Elixir.

If you take real pepsin and take it in liquid form your stubborn indigestion will soon be a thing of the past and you will be the owner of a good healthy stomach capable of digesting the heartiest meal without distress.

Among pharmacists just now a new improved elixir of Pepsin called Dare's Mentha Pepsin is creating a sensation—the sales are enormous.

"I think," said one pharmacist the other day, "that everybody is deserting the old time relievers and turning to Dare's Mentha Pepsin which is delightful to the palate and ends indigestion, gas bloating and that near feeling of suffocation for good—not just for a few hours."

There's plenty of real pepsin in Dare's Mentha Pepsin—there's Menthol and other stomach correctives and it is sold by druggists in every city and town in America with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't do your distressed stomach more good than anything you ever tried money back. Hamilton & Ryan always has a big supply on hand.

CINCI LOSES TO MACKMEN

Score 1-0—Strenuous Infield Practice On Schedule This Morning.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 20—A strenuous infield practice session was on the books for the Cincinnati Reds early today following a shut-out which was administered by Connie Mack's world's champion Athletics yesterday. It was the first of a four-game series, the Mackmen winning, 1-0.

Grove, the champion southpaw of the Athletics was on the mound for the first four frames and Rommel, veteran right-hander officiated for the remainder of the contest. The lone marker of the champions was made in the third. The Reds were allowed only seven hits, and only one man reached third base.

After a morning work-out, the second game of the series will be played here this afternoon.

Standing out as the better cigarette

THE SINGLE IDEA of superlative quality was the inspiration for Camel Cigarettes.

From the time when the first Camel Cigarette was made that one idea has set Camel apart.

A policy of better tobaccos, combined in an incomparable blend, manufactured with the most exacting care—all to assure the utmost pleasure in smoking.

That is the ideal and the practice back of every package of Camel Cigarettes.

It has made Camel the most popular cigarette ever known. More millions have chosen Camels for smoking pleasure than ever accorded their patronage to any other cigarette.

CHOIR CONCERT AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

A good audience at the Lutheran Parish house Wednesday night, enjoyed a program of music, presented by the Chapel Choir of Capital University in Columbus. The purpose of the choir is to elevate church singing throughout the country.

The choir was directed by Ellis Snyder, widely acquainted in Circleville and a resident of Ashville, Ohio.

For the most part the numbers were choruses, sung with no accompaniment. The fourth in the first group "The Shepherd's Story" was especially outstanding in the qualities of group singing.

One of the Negro Spirituals "Listen to the Lambs" was difficult and the voices were trained to the best in interpreting these religious songs.

The four numbers in the Russian church music, were popular with the audience, and provided a vivid background for the selections of modern American composers, which were sung last. Of these, "The Shepherd" by Lutkin had an effective chorus arrangement. Miss Eloise Grove, contralto soloist sang, with a humming, accompaniment by the entire chorus. The result was that of an organ playing for the girl's beautiful voice.

DINNER BRIDGE ON SATURDAY

Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker will entertain Saturday evening March 22, with a dinner-bridge at her home on W. Union-st. This affair will be one of a series of parties at which Mrs. Hunsicker will be hostess.

MANY ATTRACTED BY CONCERT HERE

E. Power Biggs, organist, was his own showman Wednesday night at the concert of the Cambrian Concert Co. at the Presbyterian church. Mr. Biggs reveling in Bach most of the evening, played a program extremely technical, and possibly a little too difficult for members of the audience who were not trained musicians.

Mr. Biggs, organist pianist and accompanist received his complete training at The Royal Academy of Music, studying organ with W. C. D. Cunningham, F. R. A. M. and F. R. A. C. Biggs himself is a member of the A. R. C. O. At the concert Wednesday night, he seemed to be very young.

The new organ, gave the artist all that could be desired for a concert which could not have been held here with an inferior instrument to work with. Many of the audience were attracted to the concert, by the announcement of the noted musician, and of the opportunity of hearing him and the new Rugles Memorial Organ for the first time.

Ryys Davies, baritone created enthusiasm among the audience, by his singing, and personality. His songs were a sheer delight.

Jeanette Christine, coloratura soprano added pleasant variety to the evening. She has a lyric soprano voice with tones of even quality through its entire wide compass.

The entire concert was one of unusual quality for a town the size of Circleville, which the residents were fortunate to be able to attend.

In the audience were Mrs. James Hall of Lancaster, an intimate friend of Miss Ruggles. Mrs. Hall was accompanied by her son, Miss Kinkaid and Mr. Harold Reeves of Lancaster also attended the concert.

RECENT MARRIAGE IS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Abigail E. Gormley of Laurelville, Ohio, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary Catherine Gormley, 51 East Patterson avenue, Columbus, to Mr. Henry Holtzman, son of Mrs. Clara Holtzman, 491 South Parkview avenue, Bexley and the late Louis A. Holtzman. The ceremony took place in Holy Name church, Jan. 3, 1930, the pastor, Rev. Father John B. Donahie, officiating.

The bride formerly attended the school of the Brown County Ursulines at St. Martin, Ohio, and also the Columbus Art School and St. Mary's of the Springs. Mr. Holtzman is a former student of the Columbus academy, the Tome school, Port Deposit, Md., and Georgetown university, Washington, D. C.

BRIDE IS HONORED IN CUYAHOGA FALLS

Miss Clara M. Lindsey, daughter of Mrs. John Bostwick, of Columbus, formerly Mrs. Ella Lindsey of Circleville, was married to Wayne W. Parsons of Warren, Ohio, March 7, 1930 at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Francis McIlwain officiating. Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkpatrick and daughter Katherine, Mrs. Robert Eyerly and Mr. Kirkpatrick, were made up the wedding party. A luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. William Kirkpatrick.

Miss Lindsey is a teacher at East school, Cuyahoga Falls. She is a graduate of Kent State college and a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon national sorority. Mr. Parsons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Parsons of Ashtabula, Ohio. He has been cost accountant of Grinnell company at Warren for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are at home to their friends at 2094 Germaine avenue, Cuyahoga Falls.

Honoring Mrs. Parsons last Saturday afternoon, Miss Wilhelmina Lang entertained a number of the teachers of the Falls school at her home, 1111 Oakwood avenue, Akron. Four tables of bridge were placed and a delicious lunch served at the close of the games. As a surprise to the bride a number of packages were mysteriously found to be there addressed to her. They contained miscellaneous household articles as an expression of the interest of her friends in her new home.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS ONLY

The first eight new subscriptions you secure will count DOUBLE the regular scale of votes. Every one after the first eight will count TRIPLE the regular scale of votes. Should any candidate secure a string of 25 new subscriptions for any length of time, the entire string of 25 will be counted TRIPLE, or three times the regular scale of votes. This means that if you secure seven new subscriptions, no extra votes will be given. If you secure 12 new subscriptions the first eight counts double and triple on four. This is an offer not to be overlooked.

In the bush" is a very old saying; and right now when you can triple your scale of votes on new subscriptions is the time to collect in those "Promised Subscriptions." Your friends have told you they would subscribe for The Herald before the close. All right that was a promise. Now This Week is the Week to collect all of those promises. This is the week when new subscriptions count the most and when you should get in your strongest and hardest "licks. Go to your friends and explain the plan of the campaign and tell them how by giving you a New Subscription before next Thursday they will not only be getting a good newspaper, but they will be doing you a favor for if you get over eight new subscriptions the scale of votes will triple. Read about the offer below so you will thoroughly understand it. Your Promises will do you the Most Good during the next six days. Don't fail to get them in.

The standing of the various candidates changes daily. It will be seen that no one candidate has any large advantage or any great lead over another but all stand practically alike and it is plainly up to the best hustler to decide just who will drive away the Oldsmobile or Ford Sedan on April 1st. This is everybody's race right now. Any one of the candidates can win. It's plainly a matter of hustle and salesmanship. The winner will have shown ambition, industry, persistency and plenty of fight. He or she will have simply sold the greatest number of subscriptions.

It is a well known fact that when a competitor makes a try for one thing, his success depends to a large extent upon his own mental condition. If he thinks in a small way, feels that he will land low, he is quite apt to come out "small" at the finish. However, if he sets his figures by he is almost sure to do much better. To The Herald candidates the campaign manager wishes to recommend that they set their mind on a high bonus each week and when Thursday night rolls around, they will be found up among the high bonus gatherers.

CAMPOLLO BRAGS HE CAN K. O. RISKIO, SHARKEY AND CARNERA ONE RIGHT AFTER THE OTHER

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, March 20—The new heavyweight champion of the world is Victorio Campollo, of the Argentine, who won the title in magnificent fashion yesterday without leaving his training quarters at Orangeburg, N. J. nobody saw him win the championship but why he technical? I distinctly heard him do it.

What was he going to do with John Riskio in the Cancer Hospital Fund Show on Monday night? Knock him out. What did he intend to do if he ever got Sharkey in the ring? Knock him out. What were his plans for Primo Carnera? Quite so: the beeg Gaucho, he would knock him out—puff! like that. I gathered that he held Primo in very light esteem and would be willing to fight the man around behind the gas works any time after dark.

"Sl, sl; it is to laugh," said he, and thereupon did laugh, showing several of his tonals. "Riskio on Monday night. Carnera on Tuesday night."

Just a simple, unaffected fellow confessing his inability to understand why the rest of them bothered trying. What is this strange power I have over men? He seemed to ask, and being at a loss to explain the matter, simply shook his head in a puzzled way and gave it up.

The man was talking through his interpreter. Anyhow, I'm almost certain it was his interpreter. Somebody said it was his hat but, if that was the case, why wasn't his interpreter out there hanging on the hall rack where he belonged?

It was all very confusing and even the senior's explanation of his fight with Riskio at Miami, logical as it was, somehow didn't allay my dubious and unreasonable mind. It seemed the senior had a cut on his forehead when he entered the ring and feared that, if he beat Riskio up too bad, the cut naturally would re-opened and distress the assembled Palm Beachers very much. So he didn't beat Riskio up too badly and, while he was doing this all night long, the referee stepped in and called it a draw.

So it was chivalry and not Riskio who got Victorio all those thumps upon the countenance that night. Being a fellow who usually is not able to comprehend these little nuances of a situation, I was glad that Victorio had taken me into his confidence and frankly told me about it. For instance, it had been my mistaken impression that the referee who said Riskio got no better than a draw in that fight had to be taken out behind the barn later on and destroyed.

But, no, this was not so. As a matter of fact, it seemed that Victorio had decided to be big about it and completely forgive that referee.

EXPLOSION TAKES MECHANIC'S LIFE

DAYTON, O., Mar. 20—The explosion and $150,000 fire at the Wright flying field of the United States Army here Wednesday had exacted the life of Forest Rutledge, 26, an airplane mechanic.

Rutledge was fatally burned and another mechanic was seriously burned as the result of the blast, which resulted from the ignition of fumes leaking from a dump valve on a tank of one airplane.

Five airplanes were destroyed by the flames.

Best For Bad Stomachs

BRINGS INSTANT RELIEF

Druggists Report Enormous Sales of New Pepsin Elixir.

If you take real pepsin and take it in liquid form your stubborn indigestion will soon be a thing of the past and you will be the owner of a good healthy stomach capable of digesting the heartiest meal without distress.

Among pharmacists just now a new improved elixir of Pepsin called Dare's Mentha Pepsin is creating a sensation—the sales are enormous.

"I think," said one pharmacist the other day, "that everybody is deserting the old time relievers and turning to Dare's Mentha Pepsin which is delightful to the palate and ends indigestion, gas bloating and that near feeling of suffocation for good—not just for a few hours."

There's plenty of real pepsin in Dare's Mentha Pepsin—there's Menthol and other stomach correctives and it is sold by druggists in every city and town in America with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't do your distressed stomach more good than anything you ever tried money back. Hamilton & Ryan always has a big supply on hand.

CINCI LOSES TO MACKMEN

Score 1-0—Strenuous Infield Practice On Schedule This Morning.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 20—A strenuous infield practice session was on the books for the Cincinnati Reds early today following a shut-out which was administered by Connie Mack's world's champion Athletics yesterday. It was the first of a four-game series, the Mackmen winning, 1-0.

Grove, the champion southpaw of the Athletics was on the mound for the first four frames and Rommel, veteran right-hander officiated for the remainder of the contest. The lone marker of the champions was made in the third. The Reds were allowed only seven hits, and only one man reached third base.

After a morning work-out, the second game of the series will be played here this afternoon.

Standing out as the better cigarette

THE SINGLE IDEA of superlative quality was the inspiration for Camel Cigarettes.

From the time when the first Camel Cigarette was made that one idea has set Camel apart.

A policy of better tobaccos, combined in an incomparable blend, manufactured with the most exacting care—all to assure the utmost pleasure in smoking.

That is the ideal and the practice back of every package of Camel Cigarettes.

It has made Camel the most popular cigarette ever known. More millions have chosen Camels for smoking pleasure than ever accorded their patronage to any other cigarette.

CHOIR CONCERT AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

A good audience at the Lutheran Parish house Wednesday night, enjoyed a program of music, presented by the Chapel Choir of Capital University in Columbus. The purpose of the choir is to elevate church singing throughout the country.

The choir was directed by Ellis Snyder, widely acquainted in Circleville and a resident of Ashville, Ohio.

For the most part the numbers were choruses, sung with no accompaniment. The fourth in the first group "The Shepherd's Story," was especially outstanding in the qualities of group singing. One of the Negro Spirituals "Listen to the Lambs" was difficult and the voices were trained to the best in interpreting these religious songs.

The four numbers in the Russian church music, were popular with the audience, and provided a vivid back ground for the selections of modern American composers, which were sung last. Of these, "The Shepherd" by Lutkin had an effective chorus arrangement. Miss Eloise Grove, contralto soloist sang, with a humming accompaniment by the entire chorus. The result was that of an organ playing for the girl's beautiful voice.

DINNER BRIDGE ON SATURDAY

Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker will entertain Saturday evening March 22, with a dinner-bridge at her home on W. Union-st. This affair will be one of a series of parties at which Mrs. Hunsicker will be hostess.

MANY ATTRACTED BY CONCERT HERE

E. Power Biggs, organist, was his own showman Wednesday night at the concert of the Cambrian Concert Co. at the Presbyterian church. Mr. Biggs reveling in each most of the evening, played a program extremely technical, and possibly a little too difficult for members of the audience who were not trained musicians.

Mr. Biggs, organist pianist and accompanist received his complete training at The Royal Academy of Music, studying organ with W. C. D. Cunningham, F. R. A. M. and F. R. A. C. Biggs himself is a member of the A. R. C. O. At the concert Wednesday night, he seemed to be very young.

The new organ, gave the artist all that could be desired for a concert which could not have been held here with an inferior instrument to work with. Many of the audience were attracted to the concert, by the announcement of the noted musician, and of the opportunity of hearing him and the new Rugles Memorial Organ for the first time.

Ryys Davies, baritone created enthusiasm among the audience, by his singing, and personality. His songs were a sheer delight

RECENT MARRIAGE IS ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Abigail E. Gormley of Laurelville, Ohio, announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Mary Catherine Gormley, 51 East Patterson avenue, Columbus, to Mr. Henry Holtzman, son of Mrs. Clara Holtzman, 491 South Parkview avenue, Bexley and the late Louis A. Holtzman. The ceremony took place in Holy Name church, Jan. 3, 1930, the pastor, Rev. Father John B. Donahie, officiating.

The bride formerly attended the school of the Brown County Ursulines at St. Martin, Ohio, and also the Columbus Art School and St. Mary's of the Springs. Mr. Holtzman is a former student of the Columbus academy, the Tome school, Port Deposit, Md., and Georgetown university, Washington, D. C.

BRIDE IS HONORED IN CUYAHOGA FALLS

Miss Clara M. Lindsay, daughter of Mrs. John Bostwick, of Columbus, formerly Mrs. Ella Lindsey of Circleville, was married to Wayne W. Parsons of Warren, Ohio, March 7, 1930 at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Francis McIlwain officiating. Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkpatrick and daughter Katherine, Mrs. Robert Byerly and Mr. Kirkpatrick, Sr., made up the wedding party. A luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. William Kirkpatrick.

Miss Lindsey is a teacher at East school, Cuyahoga Falls. She is a graduate of Kent State college and a member of Delta Sigma Epsilon national sorority. Mr. Parsons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Parsons of Ashtabula, Ohio. He has been cost accountant of Grinnell company at Warren for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are at home to their friends at 2094 Germaine avenue, Cuyahoga Falls.

Honoring Mrs. Parsons last Saturday afternoon, Miss Wilhelmina Lang entertained a number of the teachers of the Falls school at her home, 1111 Oakwood avenue, Akron. Four tables of bridge were placed and a delicious lunch served at the close of the games. As a surprise to the bride a number of packages were mysteriously found to be there addressed to her. They contained miscellaneous household articles as an expression of the interest of her friends in her new home.

The tea tables were lovely in their decorations of green and white.

Miss McNeal and her pupils served dainty sandwiches, salad, pickles, cocoa and candy.

Several mothers and friends were present to enjoy the party with the children.

MRS. KIRWIN WILL HAVE 92ND BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary Kirwin 811 S. Scioto-st will celebrate her 92nd birthday anniversary Sunday, March 30th. Her birthday will be March 26th. Wednesday of this week marked the 70th year that Mrs. Kirwin has lived in the house where she now resides. It is thought that is a record for residence in one house in this city, and possibly in the state.

HONORS NEIGHBOR WITH CARD PARTY

Mrs. Leland Pontious E. Mainst honored Mrs. Loren Lutz with an evening bridge party of two tables Wednesday. Mrs. Lutz will leave Monday to make her home in Fort Wayne Ind.

Spring flowers in their gayest colors decorated the house for the occasion, and decorated the card tables where lunch was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Lutz was complimented with a guest prize and Mrs. D. Adrian Yates received the award for making the highest score.

MISS McARTHUR IS HOSTESS

Miss Dorothy McArthur was hostess to two tables of bridge Wednesday at her home on W. Mount-st. The guests were members of her bridge club, and assembled at two-thirty o'clock.

Beginning with Friday, March 21, and ending Thursday, March 27.

NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS ONLY

The first eight new subscriptions you secure will count DOUBLE the regular scale of votes. Every one after the first eight will count TRIPLE the regular scale of votes. Should any candidate secure a string of 25 new subscriptions for any length of time, the entire string of 25 will be counted TRIPLE, or three times the regular scale of votes. This means that if you secure seven new subscriptions, no extra votes will be given. If you secure 12 new subscriptions the first eight counts double and triple on four. This is an offer not to be overlooked.

OLD SUBSCRIPTIONS ONLY

$ 25 in subscriptions will count	25,000 Extra Votes
$ 50 in subscriptions will count	35,000 Extra Votes
$ 75 in subscriptions will count	50,000 Extra Votes

In the "bush" is a very old saying; and right now when you can triple your scale of votes on new subscriptions is the time to collect in those "Promised Subscriptions." Your friends have told you they would subscribe for The Herald before the close. All right that was a promise. Now This Week is The Week to collect all of those promises. This is the week when new subscriptions count the most and when you should get in your strongest and hardest lifts. Go to your friends and explain the plan of the campaign and tell them how by giving you a New Subscription before next Thursday they will not only be getting a good newspaper, but they will be doing you a favor for if you get over eight new subscriptions the scale of votes will triple. Read about the offer below so you will thoroughly understand it. Your Promises will do you the Most Good during the next six days. Don't fail to get them in.

The standing of the various candidates changes daily. It will be seen that no one candidate has any large advantage or any great lead over another but all stand practically alike and it is plainly up to the best hustler to decide just who will drive away the Oldsmobile or Ford Sedan on April 15. This is everybody's race right now. Any one of the candidates can win. It's plainly a matter of hustle and salesmanship. The winner will have shown ambition, interest, persistency and plenty of grit, he or she will have simply sold the greatest number of subscriptions.

It is a well known fact that when a competitor makes a try for one thing, his success depends to a large extent upon his own mental condition. If he thinks in a small way, feels that he will land low, he is quite apt to come out "small" at the finish. However, if he sets his figures high he is almost sure to do much better. To The Herald candidates the campaign manager wishes to recommend that they set their mind on a high bonus each week and when Thursday night rolls around, they will be found up among the high bonus gatherers.

WRONG MAN NAMED

The report that Earl Foley, well known Kingston citizen and filling station proprietor, was arrested and fined $20 on a charge of intoxication, was erroneous. The man arrested and placed in the Rossco jail until the fine and costs were paid was Guy Fields, Kingston and not Foley.
